NEGRO EXTENSION NEWS REPORTED

Charlie Williams, of Route 1, Appomattox, was the recipient of the award for the farmer making the most improvements on his farm toward better and more modern farming methods. The award was a $25 U. S. Savings Bond donated by the Appomattox Lions Club. This is the third year that this award has been offered by this community-minded organization.

The standards set up, that these county farms are chosen by, are as follows:

1. The farm must be under Soil Conservation, and exhibit the plans in visible working fields.

2. The farm must be following Extension recommendations and practices.

3. The farmer must attend community club meetings and a reasonable number of field meetings throughout the year.

4. The farm must show certain improvements, with relation to land use, buildings, livestock or farm machinery.

5. Reasonable efforts must be made to plant improved varieties of seeds, and also improved livestock after the same fashion.

The winner's farm activities for 1949-50 were as follows: the bright tobacco land has been terraced, the crop fields have been re-arranged, which permits a better crop rotation; new farm roads have been built, eliminating at least 4 gates from highway to the home. In effect are 15 acres of improved pasture which composes three fields; seed in grass mixtures and 10 acres of this is in ladino clover and orchard grass seedings. Williams is very cooperative and active in the community and church activities and a leader in his community. Each of his four children are members of the 4-H Club and have done well with their projects this year.

The presentation of the Savings Bond was made by Mr. C. S. Booth, Soils Technician, at a recent three-farm tour in the Promise Land community that culminated on the Williams farm.
